SELLING FAIR BOOK ADVERTISEMENTS

EVERY CLUB is in charge of selling a certain amount of ads to businesses in their area to help pay for the printing of the fair book and make a little extra money for our program!

Assignments will be given in January along with sale sheets. January 4-H Club meetings should be spent in handing out sale sheets and making a plan on how to use them!

Ideas:

- hand-written letters mailed to businesses
- visit business with sale sheet
- call business and send follow up email
- present sale sheet at business meeting like your local Chamber of Commerce

All ad sale sheets due back in fair office by FEBRUARY 14!!!!

Shooters take home turkeys

Tomi Sue Wille
Staff Writer

Sunday, November 13, was a cold, but sunny day for the 4-H turkey shoot fundraiser. A dedicated group of shooters, often whole families, competed throughout the day. The winner of each round took home a frozen turkey. A raffle drawing was also held for the six-rifle raffle, an additional fundraising effort. The money received is used to purchase ammunition, targets, clay pigeons, and other supplies for the 4-H shooting practices.

The first-place drawing in the rifle raffle was for a Ruger model 77 .300 Win Mag. That was won by Matt Fierge of Craig, Colo. Nathone Adams was the winner of the second-drawn ticket, and he won the Delta AR-15 .223. The Benelli

Nova 12-gauge pump shotgun was won by Michael Bingham of Craig, Colo. Patty Waldron was the winner of the fourth-drawn ticket, winning the Ruger target .22. The fifth ticket belonged to Celia Weber, and she won the Henry lever action .22. Dave Allen was another winner, with the sixth-drawn ticket for the Stoeger 3000 12-gauge pump shotgun. The shooting sports leaders, members, and parents would like to thank everyone who purchased raffle tickets.

"We really appreciate the support of the community," said O.R. Wille, shooting sports leader. "Bi-Rite Sporting Good in Rawlins has made our gun raffle possible every year." Wille said many local businesses sold raffle tickets, and he would like to thank Snake River Processing, The Cowboy Inn, and The Stage Stop for their support.

Ian Haskins, the youngest competitor, won two turkeys, both with a .22 rifle and competing against other kids and adults. His father Jake Haskins won a turkey in a round using large rifles. Alaina Mikesell, Kiptyn Cook, and Clay Orchard also won turkeys in the large rifle rounds. Clay Orchard won another turkey in the pistol contest, and Kurt Olson did as well. Bill Stocks won a game rifle round and took home a turkey. He won another turkey with a varmint rifle. Clay Orchard also won another in a varmint rifle round. Stran Weeldreyer and McKinnon Cook each won in the shotgun competitions.

Another huge thank you goes out to all the supporters of 4-H shooting sports.

Stran Weeldreyer poses with the Henry lever action .22 his mother Celia Weber won in the rifle raffle. Stran also won a shotgun round and competed in many others throughout the day.

Nathone Adams enjoyed the day with his sons and they all competed in many shooting rounds. Nate won the AR-15 in the rifle raffle. He is pictured helping Royce get ammunition ready for shotgun.

Ian Haskins was bundled up for the cold and wearing a big grin as he prepared for the shotgun competition after beating many other competitors with his .22 rifle. Photo credit: Tomi Sue Wille
