Fremont Center Classroom at the Fairgrounds

Impromptu Presentations

Emphasizes the need for participants to think clearly and effectively on a topic with a short amount of preparation time. When it is a contestant's turn, they will randomly draw three topics from a pool of questions. The contestant will select the one they would like to give the presentation about and return the other two to the pool. Upon selection of the chosen topic, the contestant will be allowed 3 minutes to organize their thoughts before beginning the presentation.

Prepared Presentations

● Demonstration

A demonstration is showing how to do something while telling how to do it. In a demonstration, the presenter makes or does something; there is a finished product. The key to a good demonstration is "go and do likewise."

● Illustrated Talk

An illustrated talk is talking with visual aids. In an illustrated talk, the presenter uses pre-made charts, posters, photographs, computer programs, slides, pictures, models, and/or cutouts to support the information given.

● Speech

A speech is sharing information without visual aids. The key to a speech is "here is information."
